BRUNO STILL THINKS HE'LL DODGE CHAIR

Resentenced to Die During Week of January 13th

BULLETIN.
New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The New York Evening Post today noted a prisoner in the Trenton N. J. death house as saying Governor Hoffman of New Jersey had promised Bruno Richard Hauptmann he would not die in the chair for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.
The prisoner is Edward J. ("Sonny") McNamara, awaiting execution for a gangster murder last May 9.
"You're wrong," the Evening Post quoted McNamara, answering a visitor's comment that Hauptmann was certain to be executed. "Governor Hoffman was in here a short time ago to see Bruno and he gave him his word he would not die in the electric chair for the crime."
Governor Hoffman cannot pardon Hauptmann nor can he alone commute the sentence. His vote with the majority of the Court of Pardons can reduce the sentence to life imprisonment.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Bruno Hauptmann must die in the electric chair the week of January 13, but Gov. Harold G. Hoffman declares that many doubt his execution will close the celebrated Lindbergh baby kidnapping.
"I have hardly spoken to a person who believes that the execution of Hauptmann will write the last chapter in this crime," said the governor yesterday just before Justice Thomas W. Trenchard signed a new death warrant.
"In other words, they don't think there has been a complete solution. The majority believe he's guilty, but they think there are riddles that remain unsolved."
"As the situation now stands, death would lock Hauptmann's lips forever. If he later should be found innocent, a terrible moral crime would have been committed by electrocution."
"If he is guilty and accomplices existed, all hope of bringing them to justice would be destroyed."

New Trial Blocked?
The execution can be stayed only by the Court of Pardons, of which the governor is a member, unless Hauptmann should ask and be granted a new trial on the ground of newly-discovered evidence.
A state law, however, appeared to block the way for the latter procedure. A statute provides that the court may "open judgment and grant a new trial within six months of the conviction." Hauptmann was found guilty ten months ago.
The exact day for the execution will be set by Col. Mark O. Kimbrell, state prison warden, today after C. Lloyd Fisher, a defense lawyer, declined. Condemned men in New Jersey usually go to the chair on Tuesdays at 8 P. M.
Governor Hoffman, expressing in an interview his desire for justice, said:

"Stick His Chin Out"
"I know I stuck my chin out when I openly began consideration of this case, but actually it was before me from the moment of conviction. I went at the question openly to keep myself square with my conscience."
"I'm not prompted by political ambition or desire for publicity, as has been said; I would have announced immediately after I visited Hauptmann in the death house that I had talked to him there. Almost three months passed before that it became known."

Friends of the governor have suggested that his interest in the case has jeopardized his political future—some have viewed him as a potential Republican candidate for the presidential or vice presidential nomination.
He said he was willing to take that chance because he is "determined to see that justice is done."
Hauptmann originally was sentenced by Justice Trenchard, who presided at the trial, to die the week of March 18, but execution was stayed by the unsuccessful appeal to a Court of Errors and Appeals for a new trial.

Sign Death Warrant
The United States Supreme Court on Monday denied a petition for a review sought on grounds that Hauptmann's constitutional rights had been violated in the trial at Flemington.

Dependency Trial in Lee Co. Court Continued at Noon

A jury was empaneled in the county court this morning to hear evidence in the action instituted by Supervisor D. H. Spencer against Hayes and Vera Springer of this city, to declare their five minor children, ranging in ages from ten months to seven years, dependents. Assistant State's Attorney Gerald Jones appeared in behalf of the petitioner and Attorney W. T. Toill replaced Attorney George C. Dixon, representing Mrs. Springer. The petition sets forth that Hayes Springer, the father of the children, is physically unable to provide for the children and alleges that Vera Springer, the mother, has been neglectful of their care. Several witnesses were present in court to testify, but the hearing was halted at the noon hour and continued on Monday afternoon at 1:30.

STATE TO BUILD PLANT AT DIXON STATE HOSPITAL

Plans Complete for Sewage Disposal System at the Institution

Mayor William V. Slothower yesterday received the following communication from Clarence W. Kassen, technical secretary of the state Sanitary Water Board, which answers a criticism which has been advanced in opposition to the construction of a sewage treatment plant in Dixon. The argument has been that the state hospital would not be required to construct such a plant and Mayor Slothower wrote to Springfield for specific information on the point, the answer being as follows:
"We have your letter of Dec. 11, requesting a statement as to the plans of the State regarding the abatement of pollution of Rock river, now caused by the Dixon state hospital."

Fund earmarked.
"A definite portion of the appropriation for the Department of Public Welfare has been earmarked for use in reconstructing the existing sewage treatment plant at the Dixon state hospital. Because of the enormous amount of construction work now under way at institutions all over the state, it has been impossible for the state division of architecture to begin work on the plans for this improvement, but we have been definitely advised that work on the sewage treatment project at the Dixon state hospital will be begun as soon as possible."

"You may be sure that all pollution from state institutions will be taken care of. At this time a sewer is being built at Camp Grant, south of Rockford, to carry the sewage to the facilities of the Rockford Sanitary district for treatment.
"We call your attention to the pollution abatement program on Fox river where more than $200,000 was spent in providing adequate sewage treatment facilities at state institutions."

Sen. Lewis Will be Candidate Next Year

Chicago.—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis has announced his candidacy for 1936 re-election, saying he would support President Roosevelt and that he believed the party leader would be re-elected easily. He added, however, that he differed with the president in some policies and that he would campaign at the next session of congress for a consolidation of federal agencies, a decrease in expenditures and a lessening of taxation. Sen. Lewis' announced candidacy spiked rumors that his age and illness might eliminate him from next year's senatorial race.

Pin Ball Machine Court Hearing Continued Until Next Tuesday Morn

Lawyer for Plaintiff Asking Writ Gets More Time

The hearing on the injunction action filed in the circuit court one week ago to restrain all county officials and city and village authorities of Amboy, Ashton, Franklin Grove and Dixon from any way interfering with pin ball games of two makes, distributed by Joseph Rutenberg of Rockford, was opened before Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court this morning at 10 o'clock. A continuance was granted by the court until Tuesday morning at 9:30 to permit Attorney Gerald Fearer of the Oregon law firm representing the plaintiff to file additional information.

State's Attorney Edward Jones, in opposing the writ this morning, argued that if the machines were legal, as set forth in the prayer for the injunction the proceeding was uncalled for. At the opening of the hearing Attorney Fearer was granted permission to strike from his petition the words for "amusement only," in describing the purpose and operation of the machines.

Sheriff Only Witness.
Sheriff Ward Miller was the only witness called by State's Attorney Jones at this morning's hearing. He testified that he did not know Joseph Rutenberg and added that he had never threatened the plaintiff and had not seized or destroyed any of the pin ball games. He testified that he had not served the injunction writ upon the mayor of Dixon, adding that the costs for services had

$20,000 Fur Robbery In Minnesota Today

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Fur thieves today ransacked the Conrad Fur Company of possibly $20,000 in stock after breaking through a cement wall to gain entrance.
Removing practically the entire stock, the burglars hauled off the plunder in operations some time after 1 A. M.
Officials of the firm failed immediately to determine the exact loss but indicated it may run to $20,000.

The burglars first broke in a back window of an adjoining cafe. From the cafe basement they knocked out part of the cement wall to obtain access to the fur company basement.

Chicago Paper Quotes Former Governor's Son-in-Law

Chicago, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Daily News said today that former Governor Len Small of Kankakee "has definitely decided" to run for governor on the Republican ticket next year.
"Formal announcement will be made the latter part of January at Kankakee, probably at a meeting of the Kankakee county Republican central committee, according to the present plans," the paper said.
The News quoted Small's son-in-law, Col. A. E. English, as saying the former governor had not thought of running until other aspirants for the place began going to him for support.
"One after another they came and told him that with his support they could win the nomination," the paper said.

Bids on Armory at Rock Island Opened

Chicago, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Bids for construction of a National Guard armory at Rock Island, to be paid for in part by PWA funds, were studied today by the Illinois Armory Board.

When opened yesterday, it was found that the low bidder for the general contract was the J. P. Cullen Co., Janesville, Wis., at $391,672.

The armory board, Col. A. L. Culbertson, vice chairman, said, would study the bids before awarding the contract.

The armory, when completed, will house two batteries of the 123rd Field Artillery, Illinois National Guard, and the tri-city unit of the 31st division, Illinois Naval Reserve.

Horner Still Hoping to Get "Federal" Funds to Save Him from Advocating Blow at His Own Platform

Chicago, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Still hoping that Federal funds for relief purposes might be forthcoming, Gov. Henry Horner was in telephonic communication with Washington today. In this city for the week-end, the governor insisted that some way would be found to secure $3,000,000 a month to supplement the $2,000,000 available from the portion of the state sales tax.

DEVINE TALKED AS HORNER OP- PONENT IN RACE

Dixon Democrat, Speaker of House, May be Kelly Selection

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Henry Horner, made governor by one Chicago mayor, may be forced out of his job by another.
Democratic leaders are lining up for and against the governor in the unexplained but apparently final stand taken against him by Mayor Edward J. Kelly.

Reconciliation prospects are regarded as quite small at the state house, where politicians have only the definite information that Horner is preparing to fight for his political life in the primary election four months from today.
In 1932 Probate Judge Horner and South Park President Kelly were followers of Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who picked Horner for the governorship and got his nomination in a three-cornered campaign against Michael L. Igoe and Bruce A. Campbell.

Three months after the Horner inauguration, Cermak died. He was succeeded by Kelly, both as mayor and as leader of the powerful Cook county machine.
Following the Kelly-Nash conference with downstaters Sunday and the Roosevelt speech at Chicago, the belief is general that a Democrat will oppose the governor in the April primary, although Kelly hasn't picked his man.

Most prominently mentioned in the speculation are State Chairman Campbell, Speaker John P. Devine and Kelly himself. There are several other possibilities, including Treasurer John Steele and Supreme Court Judges Norman L. Jones and Warren H. Orr.

The selection probably will be postponed until after the first of the year, Kelly meanwhile being on friendly terms at the White House.
The mayor hasn't said why an opposition candidate is sought. Democrats privately discussing the situation give such explanations as that Kelly feels the governor can't be re-elected, that the sales tax is unpopular and that there are patronage difficulties over Republicans holding good state house jobs.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL.
Voters living within the city limits of Dixon are called upon to go to the polls on Monday and decide whether they will authorize issuance of bonds to the amount of $145,000, which, if voted favorably, will be supplemented by a federal gift of $124,000, and Dixon will have a modern, sanitary sewage disposal system which will stop the pollution of Rock River at this point.

The state administration tells us that if we do not act voluntarily it will not be long until the city will be forced to put in such a system. If that is true it is doubtless the wise thing to do it now while the government is willing to pay nearly half the cost. No individual will be hurt by the tax increase, which will be very little. It will be well worth the cost to have our beautiful river restored to its original purity, making it safe and pleasant for bathing, boating, etc. the entire length of its course through the city and below, as well as above Dixon. Another angle not to be overlooked is the fact that the construction of the disposal system will create jobs for many men who need work badly.

Jijiga, Ethiopia, Dec. 14.—Dr. Robert H. Hockman of Wheaton, Ill., American missionary in Ethiopia, was killed yesterday handling an unexploded Italian bomb at Daggah Bur on the southern front, it was learned today when his body was brought here for burial.
The young doctor leaves his widow and a month old child, now at an American mission in Egypt.
Dr. Hockman came to Addis Ababa early in December, en route to Egypt to see his child for the first time, but Red Cross authorities persuaded him that his services in Ogaden province were indispensable.
He made a hobby of studying bombs, and had himself removed the detonator and supervised this

Dr. T. A. Lambie, secretary-general of the Ethiopian Red Cross, praised Dr. Hockman's heroism under fire in recent bombardments of Daggah Bur.

"We have lost the most valuable, most efficient Red Cross worker in Ethiopia," said Dr. Lambie.

Dr. Hockman, formerly of Wheaton, Ill., was a United Presbyterian missionary to Ethiopia, originally stationed at Addis Ababa.

Even before the outbreak of hostilities between Italy and Ethiopia, he started inoculation of several thousand native soldiers against typhoid, smallpox and cholera.

He established an American nurses' training school in Ethiopia last summer.

The American doctor left for the front in September, almost a month before the war started, with the first medical unit.

OREGON NEWS

By WES MARRINER

OREGON—Three children in the Otis Young family have birthdays this week. Donald, Dec. 10; Roger, Dec. 13 and Helen, Dec. 16.

Slightly over a year ago, a group of Oregon boys, musically inclined, got together for the sole purpose of entering the amateur section of the Halloween program held at the Coliseum in Oregon. This first appearance resulted in their being awarded first place and they have been climbing ever since. Several months after their first venture they applied for an audition over the amateur hour of radio station, WROK at Rockford and about a week following their first broadcast, they received a request from the management to appear on a 15 minute program once a week over the air.

This continued over a period of six months. By this time the kids were fast becoming accomplished musicians under the capable direction of Mrs. Fred Zumhagen, mother of two of the boys. Originally numbering nine members, the Oregon Hot Shots now number five little musicians ranging in years from 12 to 16 and can stand up among adult musicians and hold their own. Vernon and Rene Zumhagen, brothers, play the violin and saxophone. Franklin Basler, also plays violin; Bob Wernicka, the guitar, and Donald Cole, the drums. Mrs. Fred Zumhagen, mother of Vernon and Rene, accompanies the boys on the piano.

Since ending their broadcasting program, they have appeared in many cities throughout northern Illinois at church programs, grange halls and at dances. They have appeared at three different WLS barn dance programs at the Coliseum at Sterling, Ill. and at Assembly park at Dixon. They appeared in a float of their own in a parade a few weeks ago at the celebration in Oregon marking the opening of Oregon's new bank, and sponsored a very successful dance of their own at the Oregon coliseum during the evening. Playing both popular and old time music, this gang of school kids are fast becoming a sensation.

During the holidays they will again sponsor a dance at the Chana grange hall and playing for a new year's dance at Lindenwood. All of the boys continue to take their music lessons so that they are always improving upon themselves. They deserve a pat on the back for their efforts and we will be hearing more from them in the future.

SALUTING LIFE!

By Joseph Fort Newton.

I AM MACLAREN, whose stories we love so much, tells how, when he was out walking one day, he noticed in front of him a man who felt his way along with a cane, and he knew at once that he was blind.

He watched the man run his hand carefully over the gates leading into the houses along the road, until he found the one he wanted, opened it, and proceeded up the steps of what was apparently his home.

As he reached the top step he paused and turned, and with simple dignity and grace tipped his hat. It puzzled MacLaren much, because no one was in sight to whom to lift his hat, and besides, he was blind.

"My friend," he said, touching the man gently on the arm, "forgive my curiosity; I see that you are blind, and there seems to be no one about, yet you tip your hat. May I ask who it is that you are saluting?"

"Oh, yes," said the man, simply, "I am tipping my hat to the universe." It struck MacLaren as a new dimension of courtesy, such as he had not imagined before, and the more he thought the more grateful it seemed.

It was a salute to the whole of life, a gesture of grateful acceptance, not merely of endurance, much less of resentment. As such it was a philosophy, a religion, a poem, and a prophecy all in one act.

It makes me think of a Sanskrit poem, entitled "Look to the Day," which an old sea-captain kept hanging on the wall of his stateroom. "Yes, it's all there," he said shyly, when I asked him about the poem.

"For it is life—the very life of life—in its brief course like all the verities and realities of your existence; the bliss of growth, the story of action, the splendor of beauty."

"For yesterday is already a dream and tomorrow is only a vision; but today, well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness, and every tomorrow a vision of hope."

Yes, it is all there.

The blind man tipping his hat to the universe was an act of worship, a salute of appreciation, of acknowledgement of the wonder and beauty and goodness of life, the simple prayer of the religion of a gentleman.

"Good News for Most of Us," Says Man At Adjacent Desk

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Dr. Paul Popenoe, who has been a Hollywood today with the observation that beautiful women prefer their husbands homely.

And from more than a hundred screen beauties there was a chorus of "ayes."

"In a homely man, the woman first sees the essential thing—security," said Dr. Popenoe, who is director of the Los Angeles Institute of Domestic Relations.

"She realizes life with him will be harmonious. He usually realizes his own failings and goes to the extreme to please a beautiful wife, while a handsome husband usually is indifferent, wishing to please nothing but his own ego."

Hearing this, the film beauties took a vote.

Only three girls out of the 50 in the chorus of the musical "Colleen" voted for handsome men as husbands. In "The Great Ziegfeld" chorus all but three out of 75 favored mates with plain profiles.

ANOTHER BURDEN ON THE LAND

In the course of the debate on the form of machinery for operation of the social security laws of Illinois, Representative Richard Lyons of Lake county said:

"Can't you see the hand of the professional social worker in this scheme? This bill will create a new land field for the 7000 persons on the payroll of the Illinois emergency relief commission. There are three political parties in the United States now—republicans, democrats, and the social workers' party, which is subsidized by the democrats."

It is becoming clear that the politicians do not intend to demobilize the relief machinery of the country, nor do the relief workers intend to be demobilized. They simply will be moved from the relief agencies over into the "welfare" agencies and will continue to be a burden upon the land.

It doesn't make much difference where the taxes first are laid. Finally they are passed down to the primary producers, down to the land.

We always have provided food and clothing for the indigent, but not at the tremendous cost that is being saddled upon us under processes of the New Order of Gimme.

The setup is being dictated from Washington, and we all know what that means. It means the most expensive operation that can be devised because the power is most remote from the people.

As this burden goes back to the land, parity for agriculture is going to be just that much farther off, isn't it?

WHAT ARE FEDERAL FUNDS

Much loose talk about federal funds is going on. What are federal funds? There is no such thing as federal money. It is our money.

Federal aid has come to be the lowest form of bribery.

It is carried on as a means of destroying the dual form of government, the republican form of government, as it was set up by the United States.

We hear talk about Illinois receiving federal money. The system by which Illinois is supposed to receive "federal" money is a system by which Illinois money is taken to be spread out among other states. If the government at Washington would permit the state of Illinois to finance its own affairs, it would be money ahead.

The federal government gives us no money. It takes from us and scatters it abroad. That is federal money. That is federal aid.

Federal money, as we discover in passing the Illinois pension administration laws, is money to bribe our legislature to fill in forms sent out from Washington.

There is no aid to it, so far as Illinois is concerned. Illinois can finance its pension system and have money left out of the taxes the federal government takes from us.

Our money is taken from us presumably to support the federal government. As a matter of fact, it is used to bribe our legislature to surrender state sovereignty.

WE PAY AND PAY AND PAY

"The bare maples make a lacy arch above the lane that leads to the old Jones place, near Olney, Md."

"Jolly Mrs. Josiah Waters Jones greets her guests at the ancient doorway of the farmhouse in the true, hospitable Maryland manner. She takes justifiable pride in showing them about the place. The farm is a happy blend of modern comfort and the early southern charm of nearly a hundred years ago."

"With the extension of power lines being made possible by the rural electrification administration, many more farms will be found like this one all over the country."

And so on and so forth over two sheets of paper bought by the taxpayers, mimeographed at the expense of the taxpayers, carried in an envelope bought by the taxpayers, and sent under a government frank, which increased the deficit of the postoffice department, a deficit that will have to be met by the taxpayers.

We no longer receive that novel publication, The Blue Eagle, but its place has been taken by mail almost daily, perhaps daily, from the rural electrification administration.

The foregoing publicity is under the title, "Farm Chats about Electricity," by Polly Power. There is a notation that this is No. 4, but unfortunately we threw the other three into the waste basket without appreciating them.

Farmers, how did you get your telephones? Did the government hire a "Polly Power" to write you beautiful stories about the romance of the telephone?

The propaganda machine of the New Deal is outrageous, in our opinion. All these alphabetical agencies have their propagandists, filling the mails with matter produced and carried at cost of the taxpayers, matter that goes directly into the waste baskets of the newspapers. That is where it goes in this office, and we have seen no evidence that any other newspaper makes any greater use of it.

MONEY AND WORK

"No one knows how long it may take to teach people that money is just a receipt for work," says a paragraph in the Boston Transcript.

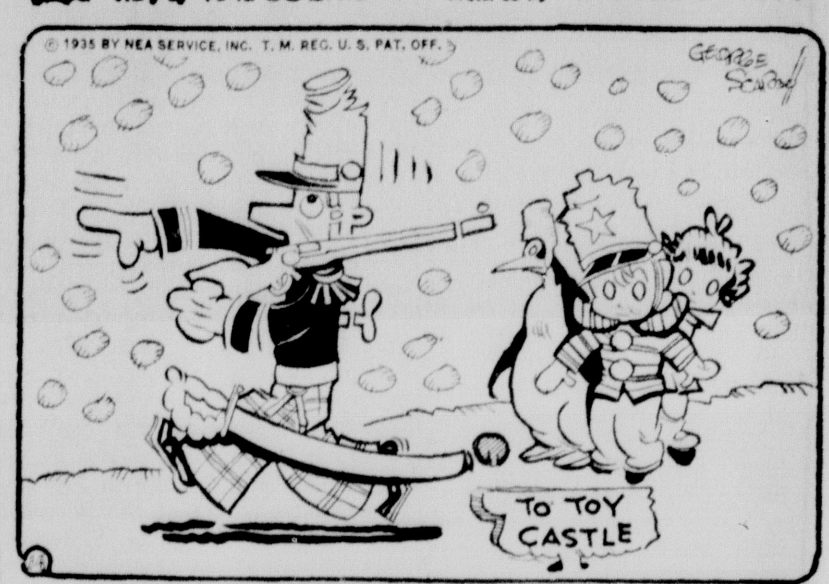

The paragrapher aims to make a point in every paragraph and to be entertaining, but we might search far for a better definition of money.

Money is a receipt for work done by somebody, not always by the person who is handling it. In this age it is difficult to apply the definition because so much money is being used by and for persons who did not (yet) do the work for which it is a receipt.

We listen to radios and obtain culture by listening, but our initiative dies as we listen, and through us it dies in our children, so that we are getting to be not musicians, but likers of music.—Edwin Claude Mill, musical authority.

THE TWINNIETTES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Twinnettes took old Santa's hand and Dotty said, "We think it grand that we can help you out this year. We're ready sir, right now."

"Each one of us can do real work, and we will promise not to shirk. All you need do to start us off is tell us, sir, just how."

"Don't worry," said kind Santa Claus. "I'll tell you how but now we'll pause and have a nice, cold ice cream cone. Come in the house with me."

"Eleven days and Christmas will be here. That gives me quite a thrill. A lot of my work's done, though, as you'll very shortly see."

They walked into his house and there they got a very sudden scare. A funny man jumped out, and shouted, "Hip, huray!"

"I make fine cones for tots like you. You'll know they're good before you're through. Just help yourselves, my good friends. There are six in my cone tray."

"Oh, thank you, sir. You're very sweet, and I'll admit this is a treat," said Dotty, as she took a cone and ate it rather fast.

"Ha, ha," cried Duncy. "You are dumb. Your cone is gone. I still have some. It tastes real good so I am going to try to make mine last."

From outside, then, a noise was heard. The Twinnettes heard one single word. "Twins!" and they all rushed right out to see what they could do.

"A wind-up soldier's all I see," said Dotty. "Goodness, gracious me! He's pointing down the walk, and he seems quite excited, too."

"Oh! Santa smiled and said, 'Well tots, you said that you were seeking lots of work. Now, you can find it, if you'll follow that strange man.'"

"He'll take you to the toy shop where, I've no doubt, things are in the air." "All right," replied brave Duncy. "We will do the best we can."

Washington Parade

By CARLISLE BARGERSON

Washington—The Roosevelts do have a way of making mistakes. Several years ago when young Teddy Roosevelt was running for governor of New York against Al Smith, he was going so good that Al's friends got worried and implored him to get busy. Al kept telling them to be patient, that young Teddy would make a slip soon.

Sure enough a short while later young Teddy was addressing the Cornell students at Ithaca. They had just been beaten by Columbia at football or rowing or something. Anyway, young Teddy congratulated them on their "big victory over Columbia." The reception he got immediately told him he was wrong and he turned angrily to his advisors and demanded "Who told me that?" Al spent the rest of the campaign saying "Who told him that?" every time young Teddy opened his mouth. My memory may be faulty about it being Cornell and Columbia but the story is true.

Recently down at Atlanta, President Roosevelt was going good. He was among friends at one of the best shows ever arranged by politicians in this country. Addressing a throng in the Georgia Tech football stadium, he told them they could just look around and see what his administration had done in the way of slum clearance. It had been a section occupied by colored people known as Swamp Land, Swamp Poodle or something of the sort, and unquestionably it was a place of squalor.

Pointing out that the shacks had been torn down and modern habitable quarters erected, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Today those hopeless old houses are gone and in their places we see bright cheerful buildings of the Technowood housing project. Within a very short time, people who never before could get a decent roof over their heads will live here in reasonable comfort amid healthful, worthwhile surroundings."

His Georgia audience must have shaken their heads, squirmed in their seats and expressed the inward wish he would skip that. It so happens that the new quarters are occupied, not by the colored people who were displaced, but by Tech students who have always had a good roof over their heads. The colored people went off to establish other Swamp Poodles in various parts of the town.

They've always liked Mr. Roosevelt down in Georgia. Paradoxically they like Gov. Talmadge, too. Sort of torn between two loves, they say. But about Mr. Roosevelt, they've wondered about that Technowood housing project. Liking him the way they do they wish he hadn't mentioned it because they are afraid that people in other states may catch the mistake and figure

There are other mistakes in his address. For example, this writer would like to talk to the bankers about Mr. Roosevelt's statement they wanted him in early 1933 to incur a national debt even higher than he has. They really must have been "skaired," eh?

Co-Guardians Named for Son of the Former Millicent Rogers

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice William T. Collins has appointed Mrs. Millicent R. Peralta-Ramos and John Caldwell Myers, an attorney, co-guardians of Peter Salm, Mrs. Rogers' 11-year-old son, who is heir to an estimated $6,000,000 estate under the will of his grandfather, H. T. Rogers.

The former Millicent Rogers, Standard Oil heiress, was divorced Thursday in Reno, Nev., from Arturo de Peralta-Ramos after eight years of married life.

The Reno court ratified a separation agreement governing their respective property rights and fixing the custody of their two children.

The appointment of the co-guardians was the result of an application by Count Ludwig Salm, of Vienna, divorced from the mother of the boy in Paris in 1924.

Huey Long Has Halo Over Head in Painting in New Library

Washington, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A mural painting in the McKinley high school library opened for public inspection shows the late Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana with a halo over his head in the center of a legislative group including Vice President Garner, Senator Borah of Idaho, Speaker Byrnes and Representative Snell, the Republican leader.

The mural, painted by Philip Bell, young PWA artist, was begun before Long's assassination. When Long died Bell painted the halo but did not change the Senator's argumentative aspect.

Bell said he first attempted to show a legislative dispute alone but later worked in a gravenly protesting figure which he agreed was drafted to resemble Charles E. Hughes, Chief Justice of the United States.

Two Statues Near Completion at Mt. Rushmore

Flecked with snow like the hair of men in the winter of life, the likenesses of George Washington (left) and Thomas Jefferson gaze from the lofty eminence of the colossal Mt. Rushmore memorial across the far-flung Dakota horizon. The last five months of work by Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, and his staff of stone cutters, nearly completed the two statues, largest in the world, which have required the removal of nearly 500,000 tons of granite. Operations have been suspended during cold weather, and several more years will be required to carve the portraits of Lincoln and Roosevelt.

Legislator Opines Hoffman's Interest in Bruno Political

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Legislative leaders have turned down Governor G. Hoffman's order to call a special session to investigate his activity in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case.

The investigation was suggested by Assemblyman Crawford Jamieson, Mercer Democrat, who criticized the governor for his death house visit to Hauptmann. Jamieson said he believed a plan existed to "subject the people of the world . . . to a series of recurrent explosions that will carry this celebrated case into the press at intervals until the Republican national convention meets in June."

Hoffman has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

St. Louis Electric Company Executive Murdered by Woman

St. Louis, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Ernest Meyers Dennison, vice-president of an electrical firm, was fatally wounded, employees of his company told police, by Mrs. Caroline Orr, who then shot and seriously wounded herself.

Mrs. Orr, Otto J. Hettich, a clerk, related, arrived at the company offices Friday and asked to see Dennison.

Hettich said he told her Dennison hadn't arrived and she informed him she would wait. When Dennison did come in, Hettich said, he advised him that Mrs. Orr was waiting and he quoted Dennison as replying:

"I don't see why I have to run away from her."

Hettich then said he heard the couple quarrelling in Dennison's office. He related he heard Mrs. Orr say, "I don't care. I'm through with you. I don't want to see you again." "I'm not afraid of what you've got in your hand," Hettich quoted Dennison as saying. The clerk said he then heard a shot.

Dennison died before he reached City hospital, Mrs. Orr, wounded in her right temple, lapsed into unconsciousness.

Interesting Report
Coroner Frank M. Banker of this place read his annual report to the members of the Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning. He called attention to the arrangement whereby the county is now reimbursed by the state for inquests conducted over patients of the Dixon state hospital. He informed the supervisors that the new plan had been worked out through the efforts of Chairman William F. Burhenn, of the county board; State's Attorney Edward Jones and Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the institution. He reported having received and turned over to the county treasurer the sum of $448, which had been received from the state for inquests conducted prior to the decision, and the sum of $64 had been received since that time with additional amounts still due to Lee county. He also referred to the increase in the number of accidental deaths. The rate has been high in Lee county during the past year. From his report there were 37 accidental deaths in the county in the year. The majority were either directly caused by accidents or were the result of accidents. Heart trouble claimed the next largest number of victims, 22 persons having succumbed from this affliction during the past 12 months. There were also four drownings in the county during the year. The coroner conducted a total of 64 inquests and 19 investigations during the year.

Second Polygamist Convicted in Ariz.
Moral No Man's Land
Kingman, Ariz., Dec. 14—(AP)—Two polygamists of the "Moral No Man's Land" of Short Creek, Ariz., faced sentencing for "open and notorious cohabitation." Both I. C. Spencer and Price Johnson were convicted despite their protest "plural marriage" was a part of their religious beliefs and despite their attorney's plea that President Roosevelt only this week reiterated the American right of freedom in religious worship. The maximum penalty is three years imprisonment. Johnson, who said he would willingly go to prison for his religious faith, was convicted by a jury which deliberated only 45 minutes. Spencer was convicted Wednesday.

County Attorney E. Elmo Bollinger declared Johnson had cast off the mate of his youth, Esther Heaton Johnson, and had had barefoot 15-year-old Helen Hull his "plural wife."

Evidence was presented to show Johnson had seven children by his legal wife and three by Helen Hull, who disappeared last summer. Spencer admitted he had 13 children by two wives.

DIXON REPELS ROCK FALLS IN PAIR OF TILTS

Purple and White To Meet Princeton Here Tonight

After a pair of hard-fought games in which Rock Falls resisted to the limit Dixon high's offensive thrusts, the locals rounded out two good victories, the light weights winning 21 to 11 and the heavyweights marking up a 23 to 16 decision at Rock Falls last night. The Purple and White team entertains Princeton tonight in the Dixon high gymnasium.

Art Klein was the scoring luminary for the local heavies. His hot streak in the first half netted him seven points and he added his eighth, a free shot in the second half. Marvin Rebuck held scoreless in the first half burst local with seven points in the second.

Joseph, Massini, and Boze each counted four points as the Green and Black team's points were fairly evenly divided. Boze made his four all on gift tosses.

Durkes Sinks Bucket

The Purple and White team after trailing momentarily in the first quarter 3 to 1, forged into a 9-5 lead on Durkes nice field goal from the side as the period closed. Rock Falls rallied twice in the second period to tie the score both times. Smith counted a field goal to tie the score at 10 all, and after Klein's basket again put the locals ahead. Smith added his second basket to deadlock the count once more 12 to 12. Krug was fouled by Joseph just before the first half ended and made a free throw giving Dixon a thin one point lead. Krug fouled Joseph at the opening of the third period and the latter tied the score at 13-13.

A tight defensive battle in the third period gave the locals only three points to Rock Falls one and Dixon a slim 16-13 margin. Thereafter the Purple and White counted things pretty well under control. Dixon built up a 23-13 lead before Joseph on a free throw tallied again for Rock Falls, and the hosts made their last field goal on Joseph's shot a moment before the game ended.

Owing to the comparatively small floor Dixon's offensive was held down by Rock Falls tight defense, but the hosts were equally ineffective in attempting to penetrate Dixon's stout zone defense. They hurried their shots and took little time when advancing the ball into scoring position.

MINORS COP VICTORY

Coach L. E. Sharpe's lightweights won their first game of the season in nipping Rock Falls' lightweights 21 to 11, in the preliminary.

The game was as close a defensive battle, particularly in the first half, as has been seen for some time. The situation did not look rosy for the Purple and White five until the middle of the third quarter. Rock Falls led 2 to 1 in the first stanza, and trailed by only one point 7 to 6 at half time. For the locals Coakley and Schumm with seven points each were high point men and Fairfax at forward starred for the Green and Black team with seven points.

Bush Ties Count

Dixon tied the score 3 to 3 in the second quarter when Bush flipped in a goal from beneath the hoop. Pignatelli missed a free shot when fouled by Ankeny and after Ankeny also missed a chance to score via the free lane. Coakley who had entered the fray slipped in a basket from the side. Swanson of Rock Falls almost immediately tied the count 3-5 and the hosts again assumed the lead on Schultz' basket. Ellis' free shot once more gave Dixon the lead as the half ended.

Thereafter the locals were never passed. Coakley, Lloyd Miller and Ellis built up a 16-8 lead when Rock Falls called for time out in an attempt to halt Dixon's rally. But in the last stanza Fairfax' goal was

SOUTHEASTERN LOOP WILL AID ITS ATHLETES

Plan Draws Criticism and Praise From Other Regions

Atlanta, Dec. 14—(AP)—The Southeastern conference's approval of financial assistance for its athletes drew both criticism and praise as executive committee members insisted today that the action "let down no bars."

Adoption of an amendment saying that athletic ability should receive consideration in determining student values and in the assignment of financial aid was construed generally as a progressive step by the officials—one that makes it "above board."

In the past a Southeastern regulation prohibited athletes from receiving grants-in-aid.

No debate preceded the action of the executive committee, but the sentiment was unanimous that the conference had not gone on record as favoring the "subsidizing" of athletes.

Voted For Proposal

Eleven members of the group voted affirmatively. Vanderbilt University opposed the amendment, and Sewanee cast no vote. The amendment said that athletic ability should receive consideration in determining student values and in the assignment of scholarships, loans and opportunities for remunerative work, with the understanding that such assistance should not be granted primarily for athletic service.

Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida and conference head, approved the action as a "constructive step."

Captain Lawrence (Biff) Jones, head coach of Oklahoma, said "I think it's a fine thing."

Dr. W. E. Metzenthin, chairman athletic council, University of Texas, commented: "I would rather see a slight lowering of our ideals and a clearing of our consciences than to wink outright at evils in false endeavoring to preserve ideals higher than we can expect to maintain."

U.C.L.A. Concludes Football Season Against St. Mary's

San Francisco, Dec. 14—(AP)—The only team to beat Stanford this season—the University of Southern California at Los Angeles—was matched today with the St. Mary's Gaels who held Fordham to a tie. Improving as the season advanced, the Gaels recently took an 18 to 0 decision over the University of Oregon, a team which U. C. L. A. trounced 33 to 6 earlier in the season.

Prairie Du Chien, Wis., Dec. 14—(AP)—It was Friday the 13th. So Prairie Du Chien and Pennimore high school basketball teams battled to a 13 to 13 tie in regulation time. Neither scored in three over-time periods, so they gave up.

The score is still 13-13. Farmers use 26 per cent of all the trucks now in operation in the United States.

Joe Louis Knocks Out Uzcudun in the Fourth Round Before 20,000

"Bounding Basque" Kisses Canvas First Time

New York, Dec. 14—(AP)—They imported old Senor Paulino Uzcudun from San Sebastian, Spain, to find out just how hard Joe Louis can hit. And how the Negro showed 'em.

He fiddled around for three rounds in Madison Square Garden last night, then knocked the once redoubtable Spaniard flatter than the celebrated pancake with a paralyzing right that drove one of Paulino's teeth through his upper lip.

Herr Max Schmeling, sitting way back in Row G, felt the blow and winced. The doughty Isidor Gastanaga must have heard it in Havana. Charlie Retzlaff, with his ear glued to the radio out in St. Paul, didn't know whether it was a flurry of static or what.

The startling Louis scored a technical knockout over Paulino after two minutes and 32 seconds of the fourth round had elapsed. It was his twenty-second knockout in his 26 professional fights.

Notables in Crowd

Sports, society and theater notables were in the crowd of almost 20,000 that saw the Bounding Basque introduced to the resin dust for the first time in his 12 years of campaigning. The Basque had been in 69 battles with the good and the bad, but he never had been toppled from his feet.

The fight, although the outcome was almost a foregone conclusion, drew a gross gate of $128,394.75, the Garden's largest in six years. It was far short of the indoor record set by Billy Petrolle and Jimmy McLarnin in 1929.

After the fight, Paulino, who admitted he didn't know what hit him, predicted the spectacular Louis would polish off Schmeling with the same celerity when they meet in the Yankee Stadium next June.

"I fought both men," he said. "I should know. I have been hit many times, but never like tonight. I believe nobody can lick that boy."

Paulino has never heard of Retzlaff, but he dismissed Gastanaga with a contemptuous "Bah!" Louis will meet both.

His Easiest Fight. Louis said it was one of his easiest fights. He jabbed away with his left until he found an opening, then turned on the power, and the show was over.

The Negro was content to play ball until the Basque got fresh in the third and smashed a solid right to Louis' body, his only good blow of the performance. Louis didn't bat an eye, but then and there Paulino's number was up.

In the next heat, the Bomber jabbed a short left to the chin, followed with the pulverizing right that cut the Spaniard's lip and sent him crashing to the floor on his back. Paulino went down as if someone had knocked his legs from under him with a wagon tongue. Game as ever, the old fellow raised himself to his feet after a count of eight, just in time to stagger into another right to the head. He wavered groggily as Referee Arthur Donovan put an end to the slaughter.

Paulino was so punch drunk he couldn't speak for five minutes after reaching his dressing room. He staggered in, flung himself on a table and lay motionless. Then, sitting up and pointing to the floor, he said:

Uzcudun Punch Drunk

"The first time there; the first time there."

While a physician took two stitches in his lip, Paulino raved about Louis to a Spanish newspaper man, who interpreted his remarks.

"Schmeling? Good night!" he said. "Max couldn't knock me down in three fights. This boy did it in four rounds. But I could have gone on. I wish the referee had not stopped the fight."

Louis admitted the Spaniard's crab-like style of fighting puzzled him at the outset, but once he could spot his openings, he said, there was nothing to it.

Louis collected 40 per cent, or $38,800, and brought his earnings in the year he has fought professionally to around the $400,000 mark. He contributed $6,800 to Mrs. W. R. Hearst's Christmas fund, which also came in for 10 per cent. Paulino's share of 20 per cent came to about $19,000.

Among the festive celebrities present were Champion James J. Braddock and ex-Champions Jack Sharkey, Jack Johnson, Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera.

BIG TEN TEAMS ENTERTAINING NON-LOOP FOES

De Paul-Purdue Tilt Heads Program This Evening

Chicago, Dec. 14—(AP)—College basketball moves "down town" in Chicago for the first time tonight as Purdue and De Paul, two of the Midwest's most powerful teams, meet in the Chicago stadium.

Their 1934 game attracted a crowd of 6,000 to the 124th Field Artillery armory. With interest in the series, tonight's battle was scheduled for the huge west side building where arrangements were made to accommodate 8,000 fans.

The Boilermakers' won last year's game, 48 to 37. De Paul's only defeat in its last 36 games, most of which were against strong opposition. De Paul has an almost all veteran five Purdue will have two veterans, Bob Kessler, Forward, and Jim Seward 6 foot, 7 inch center, on the floor.

De Paul already has defeated Chicago this season, and during the campaign will meet Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, of the Big Ten, all in the stadium.

The Purdue-De Paul game tops a big night for conference teams. Indiana meets Loyola at Chicago; Pittsburgh 38 to 30 loser to Northwestern last night, invades Iowa; Wisconsin entertains Marquette; Michigan State plays at Michigan; Carleton goes to Minnesota; Ohio State meets Evansville at Columbus; and Chicago plays Wheaton at the Midway.

200 PRO GOLFERS OPEN BILTMORE TOURNEY TODAY

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 14—(AP)—With only two conspicuous gaps in the ranks, more than 200 professional golfers set out in the $10,000 Biltmore open tournament today.

Only Olin Dutra of California, 1934 national open champion, and Walter Hagen, winner of 11 major crowns, failed to answer the roll call.

The top favorite was Johnny Revolta, national PGA champion and a member of the Home club pro staff. His most recent victory was in the Sarasota, Fla., $2,000 open.

Gene Sarazen, Denny Shute and Willie MacFarlane, 1935 national open king, were attempting to break the precedent that no Biltmore winner has ever repeated.

They annexed first place in this major winter circuit event in March 1932, November 1932, and December 1933, respectively. Sarazen had practice 70, one under par, to encourage his backers.

The professionals debated Sarazen's plan for building a PGA 625,000 classis by having all entry fees turned over to the organization instead of to individual tournament sponsors. The suggestion will be acted upon by the executive committee next week.

CARDINALS OWN BIGGEST CHAIN OF FARM CLUBS

Now Control 600 Ball Stars In Their Twenty Clubs

St. Louis, Dec. 14—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, whose army of players do a nation-wide baseball business each year, will operate from at least 20 stands next season.

The announced acquisition of Sacramento, Cal., of the Pacific Coast League will extend baseball's most extensive chain store system from coast to coast.

It will round out the Red Birds' representation in the three class AA leagues, for the Cards have had Rochester, N. Y., of the International League and Columbus, O., in the American Association for years.

The organization is well represented also in all other league classes, A-1 A, B, C, and D.

In the 20 clubs, including the Cardinals themselves, the St. Louis club will control about 600 players.

When the Sacramento deal is completed the Cards will own outright the three class AA minor league teams, as well as Houston and several other lower minors, and control the remaining teams through optional agreements.

Student Strike At Westminster Reinstates Ace

New Wilmington, Pa., Dec. 14—(AP)—The next time Westminster college's towering Titans take the basketball floor Lanky Paul Backus will be in the tip-off position, and so ended a strike of 600 worried students.

The faculty acceded to demands that Backus on probation for scholastic deficiencies—could return to the floor squad after students spent a day picketing the snow-covered campus in protest demonstrations.

Panthers Stalk Faltering Troy Football Crew

Los Angeles, Dec. 14—(AP)—Pittsburgh's powerful Panthers, here on a mission of revenge, stalked the University of Southern California's faltering football team today.

Uppermost in the minds of Coach Sutherland's squad were thoughts of those 1930 and 1933 Rose Bowl trouncing by great Trojan eleven and Pitt was bent on atoning for them. Pitt won last year's game 20-6 at Pittsburgh.

IN SOUTH AMERICA, THERE ARE TINY OPOSSUMS WHICH GROW NO LARGER THAN MICE!

PAW PAW NEWS

By Mrs. John Urey

Paw Paw—The County Life Insurance Co. presented a talent discovery night program at Township high school in Amboy, Saturday evening. This is the Farm Bureau insurance company and the evening followed a day of celebration by the company.

The trio from near Paw Paw and who attended school here, Irwin Milton, Eldo Johnson and Clement Buchanan appeared on the program and were most enthusiastically received. They were among five who placed first in the contest for Lee county and will go to the state contest. The other four were Rita Dempsey of Walton, Tony dancer; Rev. E. M. Edwards of Amboy, reading; Lillian Wickness of Steward, piano reading and Regina and Mildred Fitzpatrick of Walton, vocalists. The three boys from here are favorites with Paw Paw audiences and have frequently taken part in entertainments here.

An officers retreat was held at the Baptist church Saturday evening. This meeting was sponsored by the Young People's association of this district, and many came from adjoining towns to participate and enjoy this educational meeting. At 6:30 a banquet was served by the ladies of the Baptist church and the evening was devoted to the program. About 60 attended.

Among those from this vicinity who were in Chicago Monday to hear President Roosevelt address the farmers were Lewis Rissetter, Robert Mullins, Floyd Miller, Harvey Rhoads, C. G. Poltsch, A. D. Yenerich, Walter Thomas, Anson Rosenkrans, Ray Willard and August Schlesinger.

Henry Knetsch attended the board of supervisors meeting this week in Dixon. Radical changes in bookkeeping were recommended by the firm of auditors which has recently completed an audit of the county's books.

With All My Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After the death of her mother, lovely DANA WESTBROOK came from abroad to make her home with her grandmother, Mrs. WILLARD CAMERON.

Dana's half-sister, a RACY WALLACE, resents Dana's coming.

Mrs. Cameron is elated when rich RONALD MOORE falls in love with her granddaughter, Dana. Meanwhile, she has become attracted to DR. SCOTT STANLEY, a struggling young physician.

Nancy, who makes her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude, unhappily watches his love for Dana deepen. Just as suddenly, FAYE LONG watches Scott Stanley's interest in Dana increase.

Dana and Scott, swept along by their love for each other, decide to marry. Mrs. Cameron predicts that the marriage will not last.

Faye is torn by a conflict of storm over the news that Scott has married Dana. Then she becomes a friend of Dana's and a constant visitor at her apartment.

Dana values a dinner and Scott comes home to find her helplessly trying to repair the damage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII
Scott looked at Dana and took in all the details—tumbled hair, eyes in which tears were lurking, tremulous mouth.

"You poor kid," he said, drawing her into his arms. After a comforting interval, he took inventory. It appeared that, in the process of cooking dinner Dana had pulled out every pot and pan in the place. Moreover she had not been far wrong when she had said "everything" was ruined.

"I don't know what happened to the chicken!" Dana wailed. "I followed directions, just as I've always done, but it tastes like leather. No one could possibly eat it."

After a brief examination of the chicken, Scott answered in a professional tone. "It just happens that you have cooked the grandfather of that last chicken we had."

"Oh!" said Dana, enlightened for the first time that there could be a great and vital difference in fowl meat.

"And through long habitation of the barnyard the old bird developed a very tough resistance to knives and forks," Scott added.

"Oh, Scott, don't be funny at a time like this!"

"Well, what else is there in the house? I could dash out some where for a baked ham."

"There's nothing else," Dana answered soberly. "You see, Scott, while I was worrying about the chicken, the sweet potatoes cooked. And then I was so upset, I forgot to put the apple salad in the ice box until a little while ago. And look at it!"

The apple salad, a dejected looking mess, met Scott's eyes. "Maybe it will jell by dinner time," Scott looked hopefully at his watch. "Ye gods, Dana, they'll be here in half an hour."

Dana said nothing, but sheer tragedy was in the look she gave him.

Nira, Ill., Dec. 13—(AP)—Nira, where the New Deal sold the first national industrial recovery act stamps in 1932, has lost its "depot." It's been sold by the Rock Island railroad to a farmer, who'll move it to his farm. But Nira's 20 residents are not very worried. "We got along before we had a depot," said John Whetstone, 87. "And we got along before NIRA. In fact all it did was clutter up the place with stamp collectors. The extent of tuberculosis prevention in this community next year is dependent upon your support of the present Christmas Seal sale. Send in your check to the local tuberculosis association and help them continue their work."

DAILY HEALTH

FAT CHILDREN.

Obesity in children, though less widespread than obesity in adults, is still a significant problem, one usually of greater concern to the parents than to the child. For convenience we may divide the subject as to consider separately the fat infant, the overweight child, and the obese adolescent.

Well nourished, healthy infants are naturally inclined to be "poly-poly." However, not all fat infants are healthy, nor can the degree of their fatness be taken as an index to their well-being. In rickets, hypothyroidism, and in anemia, the infant may be overweight. Barring such conditions the over-fat baby need not concern us. It may be because of its bulk, be a little slow to get on its feet. Otherwise it will not suffer.

The overweight child at times, but only comparatively rarely, may represent a disturbance in function of the glands of internal secretion. If there be suspicion that such is the case, the child should be examined and treated if necessary, by one competent in endocrinology, that is trained in the diseases of the glands of internal secretion. Most overweight children, however, are of the large, powerful, active type, and it is best when they are left alone. The onset of puberty quite frequently checks and corrects their overweight. In adolescence we meet with a type of obesity, especially prevalent among girls, which deserves careful attention. Certain of these instances are of endocrine origin. Others are the result of bad diabetic habits, as for example eating too many sweets. Still others are, strange as it may seem, the consequence of emotional maladjustment.

"Black Eagle of Harlem" Home: Is Angry

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, "Black Eagle of Harlem," and former chief of Ethiopia's air force, is home and declares Harlem ought to tear down its Ethiopian flag. "They'll take down the Ethiopian flag in Harlem after I tell them the truth about Ethiopia," he asserted as he arrived on the liner Aquitania. Impeccably attired in formal morning dress, winged collar, Ascot tie and all, the negro aviator said he resigned his military position in Emperor Haile Selassie's forces because of the "brutality and uncivility" of the Ethiopians. Julian spent eight months in Ethiopia, having gone over last February to offer his services against Italy. He said he was penniless when he left Ethiopia, but that when he arrived in port he met an "English lady" whose identity he would not reveal, who became interested in him and made him a gift of 12,000 pounds (about $60,000). The money is to be used, he explained, to finance a trans-Atlantic flight by him, possibly a "round-the-world-flight."
